Carol Hirschfeld is New Zealand 's beloved broadcaster. She is best known for her role as a TV3 News presenter alongside John Campbell from 1998 until 2005. Together the pair also created and produced Home Truths, a late night interview show, and A Queen' s Tour, a travel series retracing Queen Elizabeth II 's royal tour of New Zealand in 1952. In 2009, Carol became Head of Programming at Maori Television and now is the Head of Content at Radio New Zealand. Carol would be perfect for your next conference or event as MC.

Testimonials.

Carol was a wonderful MC for our 2024 conference, she was personable, professional, and engaging. Carol made the effort to understand the themes of our conference in order to ask the fitting questions. She kept our plenary sessions running smoothly and on time. We would definitely recommend Carol as MC for upcoming events, especially those that require someone well known, with a professional reputation.

NZ Planning Institute 2024

- Vanessa White | Events Manager

Carol is an absolute professional. She invested significant time understanding the topic of the evening, the panel of speakers and our client 's brand. The speakers were instantly put at ease under Carol's guidance of the conversation. As a result the storytelling was rich and our audience was highly engaged from beginning to end. I can't recommend highly enough.

ANZLF 2019

Tasman Business Circle

- Morgann Price

Carol was the MC at our recent "Will you be there?" event in celebration of our donors who have supported our capital campaign to rebuild the Auckland City Mission. Her ability to engage with the entire audience with warmth, grace and professionalism added another dimension to the success of this event. We felt honoured to welcome her to our team on the night.
